FROM THE TRAINER

If you know Technical Analysis, it can help you to trade in whichever market you open the chart in.

Technical analysis is a trading discipline employed to evaluate investments and identify trading opportunities in price trends and patterns seen on charts. Technical analysts believe past trading activity and price changes of a security can be valuable indicators of the security's future price movements. The process of this is very simple but it can be complicated if it is not done in a right way or in a proper order or in a specific direction

For Instance: If you are on diet and you want to lose weight or gain weight, there is a process to this and you can keep a specific goal and duration to achieve it. But if you think that you will eat all the food items having large number of calories in a day or leaving some specific food item for a day it doesn't mean that you will achieve it in one day. So process is very important to follow if you want to achieve anything.

On the other hand, many people don't follow the process at all and lead to facing many problems in some or the other way. This thing always happens to most of the people around us in the Trading career.

For Example: Some people will get some tips or they will learn some new candle sticks pattern. Then they will meet some new trainer from whom they will learn the price action theory. Then slowly they will get to know the RSI or MSCD indicators or they will learn something new through YouTube and in rare scenarios this may sometimes lead to great profit and sometimes not. But at the end we know what is going to happen. It will always lead to a huge loss and which is not acceptable.

So here I am, to help you, to teach you and it is so good to see that I am writing this for you and you are reading this with interest.

“

After all the studies and research, I got to know that Trading is simple but at the same time not that easy if you don't learn in the proper way.

So it can be both lengthy and boring at the same time.

So it's necessary to cut down unnecessary stuff which is not useful for the practical Trading, it may help you to pass monotonous exams but it's not helpful for the short term or midterm trading.

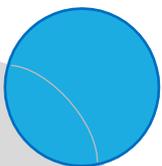

So what is the module and where is it?

Will get to it, so the trading plan is a systematic method for identifying the Trading securities that takes into consideration a number of variables including time, risk and investors objectives....

A Trading plan is a researched and written document that guides Trader's decisions.

So you need a trading system, a written plan which you need to submit after the course is completed and then you will get the certificate.
